Qualified raiders

challenge: Problems are not money or financial capacity any further. Instead, pool power concerning gathering investors is a must to better defend a corporation. Over titans arena both sides have enough money to convert any plan. Mainstream includes unexpected offers by highlighted giants, till the forces edge.

Usually whereas a huge merger appears to be plausible, intricate bankers and lawyers play the role operation. Beyond all, qualified ones structure a complex chess panel to integrate flags the better way to arrest the target defender. Poison pills may be effective or not ? For sure it results in a much more expensive way to do things, but anyhow raiders nowadays are not countless the magic of capital markets and some issuance of extra securities shall make an offer effective.

Anyway, what's the best strategy furthermore ?

From a simple standpoint poison pills and defenders usually structure ways to make the entire operation so expensive that cannot be completed. But any further, 100 millions today is not a block value to complete cross-border giant takeovers. And this amount override any attempt to block any defending canvas.

The IT mega takeover, probably will follows steps of ABN-Amro takeover alike. Whereas the final battle is to be decided under shareholders' minds. Stated that any attempt to make a better defense can be meltdown against an extra issuance of securities. This way, problem is not the share amount to be paid, but how organized will be the target company that can make any possible stepforward to frustrate the whole operation.

To be learn with ABN-Amro Takeover

Controversials apart, it's consensual and clear that investment networking make the effective difference. Raiders can better structure an attack if well arranged before. A pool of raiders is not just a touch-dial, but related to a common sense of interests waiting for a better moment to take place. Synergy can make a difference if realistic, realizing thoughts of all raiders involved in the process.

Some Insight about past takeovers

Questions remain unanswered: was the HpxCompaq merger a success for both ? and what to say about AOLxTime Warner besides. Nature enhances instead of a creation process... but is it ever ?

Talking about Billions...

Takeovers currently and easily are more than 9 digit operations. The political bias in fact is the real challenge to be solved. Raiders against defenders and shareholders in battle with blockers shareholders.
